Psychological Therapies Waiting Times in NHSScotland

Quarter ending 30 September 2016
Publication Date – 6 December 2016

About this release
This publication by Information Services Division (ISD) summarises how long people waited to start treatment for Psychological Therapies provided by NHSScotland for the quarter ending September 2016.

Main Points
For the quarter ending September 2016:
- 11,138 people started treatment for Psychological Therapies in Scotland which is a decrease from the previous quarter (12,779) and quarter ending September 2015 (13,077)
- 79.6% were seen within 18 weeks which compares with 81.2% in the previous quarter and 81.1% for the quarter ending September 2015
- Three NHS Boards met the standard of treating 90% of patients referred within 18 weeks - these were NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde, NHS Tayside, and NHS Western Isles. Due to data quality issues no conclusions can be drawn from NHS Highland data
- 607 people aged 65 and over started treatment for Psychological Therapies in this quarter and 90.1% were seen within 18 weeks which is a decrease from the previous quarter (702) and quarter ending September 2015 (731)

Background

Waiting times information for Psychological Therapies are still being developed. NHS Boards are working with ISD and the Scottish Government to improve the consistency and completeness of the information. The Scottish Government has set a standard for the NHS in Scotland to deliver a maximum wait of 18 weeks from a patient’s referral to treatment for Psychological Therapies from December 2014. The standard should be delivered for at least 90% of patients.

Psychological Therapies refer to a range of interventions, based on psychological concepts and theory, which are designed to help people understand and make changes to their thinking, behaviour and relationships in order to relieve distress and to improve functioning. The standard applies specifically to Psychological Therapies for treatment of a mental illness or disorder.

Scottish Government have asked Healthcare Improvement Scotland to lead a programme of work to improve access to Psychological Therapies. ISD are a partner in this programme of work providing data, analytical and intelligence support working closely with NHS Boards.
