About this release

This release by Information Services Division (ISD) provides a monthly update on the number of patients in NHSScotland who have had their planned hospital operation cancelled and the reason for this cancellation.

Main points

- The total number of planned operations across NHSScotland during August 2018 was 30,300, a decrease of 0.7% from 30,516 during August 2017.
- 2,601 operations (8.6% of planned operations) were cancelled in August 2018, ranging from 4.2% to 14.5% across individual NHS Boards. This compares to 2,578 (8.4%) in August 2017.
- In August 2018, of all 30,300 planned operations: 970 (3.2%) of these were cancelled by the patient; 932 (3.1%) were cancelled by the hospital based on clinical reasons; 585 (1.9%) were cancelled by the hospital due to capacity or non-clinical reasons; 114 (0.4%) were cancelled due to other reasons.

- The peak in cancellations for non-clinical/capacity reasons in January 2018 (4.5%) was linked to increased emergency admissions causing additional demand for beds. The spikes in March 2018 for non-clinical/capacity reasons (4.1%) and other reasons (1.5%) were due to poor weather affecting patient and staff travel.
